

What's in a Unit? (All Units have the same things in the same order.)

All Units are organized in exactly the same way.

Unit 1: Creating a New America from 1860 to 1900 (MAR 27-APR 13)

	Unit #1 Overview and a Checklist of What You Do in the Unit	< A reminder of what happens in the Unit
	Unit #1 Study Guide	< The Study Guide for the Unit (and guide to 17 of 25 exam questions )
	Learning Quizzes for Unit 1 – Pre-Earn Points and Pre-Learn 30% of the Unit Exam	< Learning Quizzes for the Unit (and source of 8 of 25 exam questions )
	Lesson 1: Big Business and Semi-Organized Labor, 1860–1900	< Usually 3 to 4 Lessons in each Unit to help you see the patterns of history not just for a good grade but as a life-time understanding
	Lesson 2: Transformations in the South and West—Farmers, African Americans, and Native Americans
	Lesson 3: Turmoil of Politics, Urban/Rural Split, and Reform
	Lesson 4: Turmoil and Expansion Through 1900
	Unit 1 Learning Discussion	< Learning Discussion for the Unit
	The Unit Exam will open on the dates and hours listed in the List of Due Dates To prepare successfully , remember: 8 of the 25 questions come from the Unit's Learning Quizzes. The remaining 17 are items on the Unit's Study Guide and are also covered in the Unit's Lessons. Questions ask you to prove you know something, not everything. (See the syllabus for more on this practical goal.) All Unit Exams have the same format : Blackboard displays 1 question at a time. For each question, there are several possible questions so what students see varies. There is no backtracking.	< Reminder of where the exam will be and tips
