

2.) B

Calvin + Puritan
Lutherans
Quakers

G. A. A. A. A. A. A.

Aspects of reform →
not usually called

Version A (Pro)
Reformation

by your sold in early
rs respond

had mixed resp.

The protestant reformation in the middle colonies led to many new religions being formed. In Pennsylvania the protestantians and Quakers were formed. In New York the Dutch reform was taking its course, considering New York was previously known as New Amsterdam. This reformation led to many new institutions as well, Columbia, Brown and Rutgers to name a few. The purpose of these institutions was to train and educate clergy men and allow the people to have more access to religion and be better educated.

not need
can explain